RANCHO SANTA TERESA NEWS

President's Message

LABOR DAY: Our celebration is on Monday September 6th, from 12:30-7:30. The staff has planned several games and treats, including the traditional "Pie the Lifeguards" event at the end of the day! It's a great way to start winding down for the season. (More info on page 3.)

LAST CALL FOR FALL ELECTION BOARD NOMINATIONS: Nominations for new board members are due no later than September 4th, at 5:00PM. There are four (4) board positions up for election this year. Please send an email to RSTSRCoffice@gmail.com with your name, address, a headshot for the voting packet, and confirmation that you have read, understand and meet the candidate qualifications. Qualification information and the election timeline can be found here:

https://www.ranchosantateresa.org/s/2021-Candidate-Qualifications-Nomination-Form-2.pdf

DUES INCREASE: The Board approved a 10% dues increase starting January 1, 2022. HOA Members will pay $10 more a quarter / $40 more annually. Associate Membership dues will increase to $660 per calendar year. These small increases help cover the rising cost of staffing, materials, and maintenance while allowing us to properly fund our reserve fund. Rancho Santa Teresa continues to have one of the lowest HOA dues in the area with one of the largest facilities to maintain and run. We continue to focus on keeping spending in check while providing a great member experience today and tomorrow.

POOL HOURS: After Labor Day, the Main Pool hours will be Saturday / Sunday from 1:00-7:30 PM through the final weekend of the month, September 25 & 26, when it closes for the year. The Back Pool, Spa and other amenities are still available from 8:00AM-10:00PM daily. Children under 14 must be directly supervised by a responsible adult when anywhere on the premises in the off-season. Lap Swim will continue in the Main Pool at 5-7 AM and 9-11 AM.

SOLAR UPDATE: The board continues to work through the permit process. The fire department's feedback was that the plan had too many panels for the roof. The solar company is working on updating the design to accommodate the feedback while still making the financial numbers work. We are still hopeful panels will start going up in the fall.

STUCCO WALL PROJECT UPDATE: We are also continuing to work through the permit process to fix water damage in the outside wall of the bathrooms. The contractor is ready to go as soon as all approvals are in place.

ONLINE DUES PAYMENTS: Our online dues payment system has helped save costs. If you are not yet paying this way, please consider doing so in the future. For those members who pay full year dues in December / January, please consider paying this way. We will send information and online invoices to everyone who has an email on file as we get closer to year end. Payment is simple! If we don't have your email yet, please send it to rstsrcoffice@gmail.com

Our supervisors (Gwen King, Enrique Munguia & Paige Watanabe) and guard staff have done a wonderful job this year! Their energy and dedication make a real difference to our member experience and our neighborhood. Please feel free to let them know what a great job they have done as they finish off the season.

Are You Thinking About Selling Your Rancho Santa Teresa Home?

Due to the shortage of inventory in Santa Teresa, there are several buyers looking specifically in the Rancho Santa Teresa neighborhood. Unfortunately, none of the homes currently listed for sale meet their criteria. We are looking for anyone in the neighborhood to see if they have any interest in selling.

Many of these buyers have a family. Do you know of anyone interest in selling their home in the near future?

They are pre-approved buyers, willing to pay top dollar for the right home. They are happy to buy a home in "As Is" condition and can offer a flexible closing date if needed.

30-Year Fixed Mortgage Rates

The chart above shows the National monthly average for 30-year fixed rate mortgages as compiled by http://www.freddiemac.com/.

Core Three Point Four

July 2, 2021 -- Things here in the U.S. are in a far better place at the turn of midyear compared to where they began. Post holidays, and through midwinter, COVID-19 was raging anew and widespread vaccination efforts just getting underway. Hundreds of thousands of new cases were being reported daily, and health care systems were again struggling to keep up. Despite the viral surge, and amid both continuing and new restrictions, the economy was recovering well, but unevenly, necessitating several new rounds of fiscal support to accompany the Fed's all-in stance for monetary policy.

Fast forward six months and the picture is very changed, if not completely. Despite a new Delta variant that threatens to become an echo surge, reported cases of coronavirus are running at levels comparable to the very first days of the outbreak. Inoculation rates have slowed of late, but something on the order of 55% of eligible Americans have had at least one dose of a vaccine, and about 47% are fully vaccinated.

Spurred on by re-opening, removal of restriction and blasts of cash from the federal government, the economy again accelerated, with GDP growth running a 6.4% annual rate in the first guarter and a current estimate of over 7% in the second quarter. Although job growth overall may be a little less robust than some forecasts may have expected, about 3.2 million people have rejoined the workforce over the last six months, and claims for all forms of jobless assistance have retreated from well over 1 million claims every week to something less than half that.

Another facet that has changed appreciably in the last six months is the inflation picture. At the turn of the year, inflation was still tame, with inflation as measured by the Personal Consumption Expenditure series running at just a 1.4% rate in both "headline" and core reckonings. Five months on (June data not available until July's end), these figures are 3.9% and 3.4%, with price increases now at 13- and 29-year highs, respectively.

With a strong economy in place and core prices now above the Fed's 2% target for the last couple of months, the Fed is starting to make rumblings about future changes in policy. At the turn of the year, the official stance was that rock-bottom rates and QE-style bond-buying programs would run indefinitely, and Fed members didn't expect to be raising the federal funds rate until perhaps 2024. Six months later, no changes (Continued on page 4)

Quick Summary of Comparable Properties

285 Martinvale Lane, San Jose 95119 List Price: $999,888 Res. Single Family lass: Beds:

Sale Price: nave yet occurred, but the Fed is said to be discussing the tapering of bond buying (Our guess: later this year) and estimates of when a change to interest rate policy will come have advanced into 2023, with a majority of Fed members expecting not one but perhaps two increases in short-term rates by that time.

Change has come rapidly across some very important components of the current environment. Surprisingly, long-term interest rates and mortgage rates have been well behaved, rising from record lows to start the year, increasing by about a halfpercentage point, then settling back to approximately the middle of this range and holding there for 12 weeks now. Although fewer remain in the eligible pool, this has continued to allow homeowners to refinance profitably or extract cash from their homes. For homebuyers, it has been both a blessing and a curse, since even as they can help to keep monthly payments relatively affordable. low rates continue to fuel demand for homes for which there is little supply, in turn pushing the prices of homes ever higher.

With challenges facing both new and existing home markets, sales of homes have been a little soggy of late, if still at historically sound levels. However, there is at least one indicator that sug-ests that sales may pick up a bit again, as the ational Association of Realtors Pending Home Sales Index for May rose by 8% for the month. This measure of signed sales contracts presages the actual tally of homes sold by a month or two, since it takes time to get from contact signing to closing. Sales of existing homes have been generally cooling this year; after peaking at an annual rate of 6.73 million last October they have settled to May's 5.8 million pace. The bump in signed contracts in May should push this figure up a bit by July, even if not all deals actually come to fruition.

Despite very stable mortgage rates, applications for mortgage credit dropped off by 6.9% in the week ending June 25. Requests for purchasemoney mortgages slid by 4.8% while those for refinancing retreated by 8.2%. With conditions in mortgage markets largely unchanged, there doesn't seem to be any specific reason for the drop in requests for financing; looking back at the same weeks over the last five years it seems as though there is often a dip in applications in around this time of the year. Perhaps with many schools coming to the end of the academic year folks simple have other things to do, or perhaps vacations beckon. Whatever the reason, fundamentals for mortgages haven't changed all that much, but with the Independence Day holiday now upon us, we may not see an uptick in applications for a week or more yet.
